Why New Jersey is more caloric on average: Average US calories = 267.92 New Jersey calories = 269.50 $\Sigma + \downarrow \qquad \qquad \Sigma + \uparrow$

```
Σ-1
            Σ-↑ Σ donuts+1
                                                2. noodles-
    3. bacon+1
                                        |4. butter+↑
              5. pasta-↑
                                     6. olive oil+↑
                                     |7. peaches-↓
                                    8. cake with frosting+
Food rank
            9. ice cream-↑
        10. cheesesteak-↑
                                    11. strawberries-↓
                                    12. grits-↓
                                   13. watermelon-

 green beans-↓

               15. grapes-↑
             16. peanuts+1
                                   17. crab-⊥
                                   18. corn-l
                                   19. baked potato-↓
                                   20. mashed potatoes-J
              21. oranges-↑
                                   22. kale-1
                   23. rice-↑
```

Per food phrase caloric shift